FuseBuilder is the premier web-based project designer for Fusebox, a proven web framework and methodology. FuseBuilder is the next generation in application development tools, letting you move through the lifecycle stages in a revolutionary way not possible before now. With team elements built in, targeted privileges can be assigned to different members.

The whole interface runs right in a web browser, so all users - from client to project manager - are looking at the same project the same way. Current users are ecstatic at how much more simple, logical and connected the whole project lifecycle flows with FuseBuilder. Let's not forget flexibility! You can build Fusebox 3 or 4 and generate Coldfusion or PHP code from the same project and interface! To top it all off, FuseForms, FuseQueries and plug-ins make this one of the most promising products in the next generation of web tools.

FuseBuilder covers and connects the dots in Fusebox development, giving flexibility where project tasks demand it.
